"The Cash Store"

Word was received by Mrs J A Cornish on Tuesday of the death of her mother, Mrs C E Benham, Princeton, Ont, who died June 12, widow of the late G W Benham, M. C.

Mr J Kerwin leaves on Monday for Waterford, Vermont, where he will reside in future. Mr Kerwin wishes to extend his heartiest thanks to his neighbors and friends for the courtesy and kindness afforded him during his stay here.

Mr W M Campbell has been appointed to the management of the Alberta Pacific Elevator here. It is expected that the elevator will be opened about the 1st of September.

Mrs H Dargie arrived here on Thursday last, from Winnipeg and is the guest of Mr and Mrs Alex Dargie. Mr H Dargie is also expected to arrive here this week.

The proprietor of the Coliseum, Innisfail, is extending his large connection by the purchase of the store of W A Arney at The Raven 30 miles west. Mr W Hodge will soon put his store into first class shape.

Mr Charles Roberts and Mr C H Weiber of Flasher, N D, were the guests of Mr and Mrs R Fleet. Mr Roberts and Mr Weiber are looking over Western Canada with a view of investing in land. They intend looking over the Peace River Country before returning to the States.

A movement is afoot to organize a detachment of Boy Scouts in Bowden. Already a number of parents have signified their approval of the idea by signing the roll on behalf of their boys and when the list is completed a meeting of the parents and boys will be called to fully organize. The list is now in the office of Mr H E Shenfield who is attending to the preliminaries. Mr C Johnson has kindly offered to act as drill master, and it is expected one or two others, with the necessary qualification, will come forward and assist in the movement. Any parent or boy can get further information and sign the roll by calling upon Mr Shenfield.

Another Win

To their past unbroken string of victories, in the Rosebud League, our boys added another triumph by defeating Didsbury in a scheduled game here last Friday. Mr E Brower of Olds handled the indicator for the match and proved to be one of the best bosses that our team has had the pleasure of playing under. When he called the last put out the score stood 11-2 in favor of Bowden.

The unpleasant recollections of the first game which was scheduled to open the season at Didsbury was still fresh on the minds of the visitors who came here with the intention of winning this game and demonstrating to the local fans that they could play ball. They went back home talking to themselves.

At bat Didsbury was weak, as was also their pitcher who was very generous with his passes to first base. Bowden outbatted Didsbury and outfielded them through the game. Cornish pitched for the locals but was not up to his usual form, although the visitors were at no time dangerous to him. The past three weeks Cornish has had to appear in the box for the locals and has been doing the heavy end of the throwing so far this season.

Bowden started off scoring in the first inning when McKim and Culver who were holding down the sacks were brought home on a long hit by Cornish to the centre field, he also scoring.

Didsbury blanked this inning. The second inning Rollands was sent over the plate by the locals. Didsbury scored a counter in this innings. Bowden did no more scoring until the 6th inning when McBroom tallied, in the 5th, Didsbury scored a man. A bat feast for the locals in the 7th brought in five runs and in the 9th, Bowden again scored. After the 5th inning Bowden shut the visitors out without a tally score by innings;

CURED HIS LAME BACK WHEN 84

Mr. Samuel Martin, of Strathroy, Ont., passed twenty years of his life in misery, suffering tortures from lame back. He tried nearly all advertised remedies and household recipes, but received no benefit from any of them.

Some months ago, seeing Gin Pills advertised Mr. Martin purchased a box. The relief which Mr. Martin experienced after he had taken one box was so great that he knew he had found the right remedy at last. He used two more boxes and is now completely cured.

ARE YOU ANAEMIC OR BLOODLESS

If So, the Spring is a Most Trying Time for You

Your Hope Rests in Getting the Blood Rich and Red by Using

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Shortness of breath and fatigue with slight exertion, failure of the vital organs to properly perform their functions, and pallor of the gums and eyelids are among the indications of anaemia or bloodlessness.

The blood is thinner and more watery in the spring than at any other season, and for this reason the person who is subject to anaemia, or lack of blood, suffers the most.

You must increase the number of red corpuscles in the blood, and this can best be done by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This great restorative treatment does not merely stimulate the organs to renewed activity, but cures by building up the system. For this reason its benefits are both natural and lasting.

Sleeplessness, indigestion, neuralgic and sciatic pains and weakness and irregularities of the vital organs become a thing of the past when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used.

It is only natural that you should get strong and well when this building-up treatment is used, for it supplies to the blood in condensed and easily assimilated form the elements which go to form new, rich blood.

Your digestive system has failed to extract sufficient nutrition from the food you eat, and hence the necessity of such direct nourishment as is supplied to the blood by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edman-son, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

HOW TO TREAT SKIN TROUBLES

GREASY OINTMENTS OF NO USE—THE TROUBLE MUST BE CURED THROUGH THE BLOOD

It is not a good thing for people with a tendency to have pimples and a blotchy complexion to smear themselves with greasy ointments and such things. In fact they couldn't do anything worse, because the grease clogs the pores of the skin, making the complaint worse. When there is an irritating rash, a soothing boracic wash may help to allay the pain or itching, but of course it doesn't cure. Skin complaints arise from an impure condition of the blood and will persist until the blood is purified. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured many cases of eczema and skin disorders because they make new, rich blood that drives out the impurities, clears the skin and imparts a glow of health. Mrs. S. L. Peterson, Brandon, Man., says: "I suffered for years from eczema, which brought with it other troubles, such as a poor appetite, headaches and weakness. The portions of my body affected by the eczema gave me constant torture from the itching and heat. I tried several doctors and all sorts of lotions and ointments, but did not get the least relief. Finally I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to do so. After using the Pills for some time the irritation and heat began to grow less and I seemed in better health otherwise. I continued taking the Pills for several months and every vestige of the trouble disappeared, and my skin is again as free from blemish as in youth. Given a fair trial Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will not disappoint those suffering from skin eruptions or weakness of any sort."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure all those troubles due to poor blood simply because they make new, rich, red blood. That is why these pills cure common diseases like anaemia, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, headaches, indigestion, St. Vitus dance, and the general weakness and special ailments that only woman folk know. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Effective Answers.

Mrs. Annie Edson Taylor, of Niagara Falls, the only person who ever went over the Falls alive, was asked by a very inquisitive old lady how much money she received for going over Niagara Falls in her barrel.

"Can you keep a secret?" asked Mrs. Taylor, in a very confidential tone.

"Oh, yes, indeed!" said the old lady, enthusiastically.

"Well," replied Mrs. Taylor, "so can I."

Another old lady accosted her one day, and in a very patronizing tone asked, "Well, Mrs. Taylor, how are your finances?"

"They might be improved," said Mrs. Taylor, "how are yours?"

Is There an Ice Barrier?

The Sydney Record is quite excited over the spread of a report which it claims received continental publicity, that there is ice in the harbor of Sydney—sixty feet high, which, unless dynamited, will take till summer to melt, and block all entrance to the port for weeks. The Record denies that Sydney has any necessity for buying stores of explosives to assist navigation. The editor admits that there is a quantity of ice in the harbor, as there is always along the bleak Atlantic coast at this season of the year, but none of it approaching the height of the Tower of Babel, nor so hard that a bitter wind would not wash it seawards.—Courier.

Opening for Boy Scouts.

Why not have the Boy Scouts' idea on the farm? Instead of the poles, they could carry hoes or hay forks, according to the season, and among their duties would be: Hunting for concealed eggs in the barn and barnyard; breaking up encampments of Canada thistles and other agricultural enemies; apprehending stray detachments of chickens; doing trenchment work along rows of potatoes and around corn hills, and stalking and bringing home cows.—Canadian Courier.

When Spoons Were Rare

Silver spoons were not counted by the host in the days of good Queen Bess, for then every lady and gentleman carried his or her own spoon when going out to dine. Substantial spoons they were, too, not used for unicing bites, but half-grown ladles with oviform bowls and square shanks. Only persons of wealth could afford them.

During the reign of Henry VIII, the apostle spoon came into vogue. At the top of the shanks were small figures of the apostles and in the days when they were made it became the custom to give a set of 13, including one with an effigy of the Christ, to brides. It was considered generous, however, to give the wedded pair two spoons, one for each, with their initials plainly marked, so there would be no confusion at fashionable tables. There were also spoons which were a combination of marrow borer for handle and just plain spoon for the bowl.

How the Roundheads rebelled against the religion of the Catholics is shown by spoons from which the saints have been chopped. This made the shanks hard to hold and gradually a concession to ornament was made by flattening the shanks at the end. This form developed into the modern spoon with its widened handle. In the past two hundred years spoons have varied little in form.

Snubbing a Viceroy.

Lord Minto has many pleasant memories of his term of office as Viceroy of India, though he will be extremely glad to get a prolonged rest, since the strain upon him during the past few months has been very considerable.

Lord Minto tells many good stories of his life in the Dependency, and one of the best of these relates to an experience that befell him when he paid a visit one morning to "Snowdon," the official residence of the Commander-in-Chief of the Indian army in Simla. It was early in the day, and his lordship was anxious to see Lord Kitchener before the latter commenced his day's work.

The viceroy found his way barred by a British sentry, who did not recognize him. He sought to explain his mission, but the soldier remained unconvinced.

"But I am the viceroy," expostulated Lord Minto.

"Still the man shook his head. 'We get all sorts here,' was the unflinching reply. 'We had a cove here last week who kidded he was the grandfather of Queen Victoria. We had to put a straight waistcoat on him, so you had better push off!'"

Fortunately, at that moment an officer came along who recognized Lord Minto, and the latter was able to pass on his way.

To avoid buying lobsters which have been cooked and laid on ice until all their firmness and sweetness have been sacrificed lay the creature on its back and straighten out the tail. If when the tail is released it springs back into its normal curled position it may be considered fresh, but if it stays back, and seems limp and flabby it is unfit for use.

It is a Liver Pill.—Many of the ailments that man has to contend with have their origin in a disordered liver, which is a delicate organ, peculiarly susceptible to the disturbances that come from irregular habits or lack of care in eating and drinking. This accounts for the great many liver regulators now pressed on the attention of sufferers. Of these there is none superior to Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Their operation though gentle is effective, and the most delicate can use them.

$3,600 in Cash Prizes for Farmers

ARE you going to build that new horseblock, sidewalk or dairy house of cement? Then insist on your dealer supplying you with the "CANADA" Cement. Not only will this ensure your getting a pure, uniform and strictly high-grade cement, that will guarantee the lifelong permanency of the thing you build, but it will also entitle you to enter our Prize Contest. And in this contest you stand a good chance of winning a prize that will perhaps more than pay you for the cost of the work. Every farmer in Canada who uses "CANADA" Cement is eligible to compete. Four prizes will be awarded in each Province and these prizes will be divided as follows:

PRIZE "A"—$100.00 to be given to the farmer in each Province who will use during 1911 the greatest number of barrels of "CANADA" Cement.

PRIZE "B"—$100.00 to be given to the farmer in each Province who uses "CANADA" Cement on his farm in 1911 for the greatest number of purposes.

PRIZE "C"—$100.00 to be given to the farmer in each Province who furnishes us with the photograph showing the best of any particular kind of work done on his farm during 1911 with "CANADA" Cement.

PRIZE "D"—$100.00 to be given to the farmer in each Province who submits the best and most complete description of how any particular piece of work shown by photograph was done.

Notice how we have purposely planned and imposed certain necessary conditions in order to give large and small users of cement an equal opportunity.

As an illustration of this: In prizes "C" and "D," the quantity of cement used has no bearing whatever on the result. The farmer who sends us the best photograph of as small a thing as a watering trough or a gate post, has as much chance for prize "C" as a man who sends a photograph of a house—and the same applies to prize "D."

Don't hold back from entering because you think you don't know anything about concrete work. It's very simple. Besides, we have a 160-page book that we will send you free on request, which tells you all about concrete and how to make and use it. In this book, you'll find complete instructions for the making of almost everything you can think of in the way of farm utilities, floors, vats, troughs, stairs, posts, etc.

This free book—entitled "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete"—will not only inform you—it will also greatly interest you. So send for it anyway, whether you intend to try for one of the prizes or not.

Calgary Fair Notes

The special features for the forthcoming Calgary Industrial Exhibition to be held at Calgary June 30th to July 7th, are the best that have ever been provided for an exhibition west of Toronto. At great expense the directors have provided for flights twice daily of Strobel's aeroplane, demonstrations of Brennan's Mono-Rail Car, moving pictures of the Coronation, and other high class attractions. The exhibition Co. are paying freight on all exhibits originating in Alberta, and are offering $29,000 in prizes and purses.

The flights made by Strobel's
Airship at the Calgary Exhibition 1908 undoubtedly created a sensation. The first appearance of the airship was on the 1st of July when it headed the procession to the exhibition grounds. In 1908 the airship was a great novelty, but the latest means of transportation today is by means of an aeroplane or heavier than air machine. At a very great expense the directors of the Calgary Industrial Exhibition have arranged for flights of Strobel's Aeroplane twice daily for the forthcoming exhibition at Calgary,
June 30th to July 7th.

Strobel's aeroplanes have experienced phenomenal success, and have made some of the most thrilling flights yet made with heavier than air machines. Those who witnessed the flights of Strobel's airship will realize that he will also make good with the aeroplane. Mr Strobel's machine has a sweep of 30 ft and will be under canvas for the inspection of visitors to the exhibition prior to and after each flight.

The aeroplane flights together with the mono-rail demonstration, pictures of the Coronation, grand display of fireworks and other special features, will provide entertainment for visitors to the exhibition after they have inspected the splendid displays of live stock and industrial exhibits.

There will be reduced passenger rates to the exhibition. Prize lists and other information may be obtained from E. L. Richardson, Manager, Victoria Park, Calgary.

The Calgary Industrial Exhibition Co. have during the past few years issued some very attractive hangers advertising their exhibition. Many will remember the hanger of 1908 depicting "Another Trail Cut Off". The hanger issued this year is considered by many as the best hanger yet published by this Company. It shows a cow-boy on the range who has suddenly sighted an aeroplane in the air, and he immediately endeavors to show his ability by throwing his lariat which is shown as just having circled the head of the aviator.
It is a two-color lithograph, and shows the name of the Exhibition and date, June 30th to July 7th, very prominently. As long as they last, copies may be had on application to E. L. Richardson, Victoria Park, Calgary.

Clear Water Picnic

A meeting was called of the Clear Water settlers at W. H. Robinson's, Clear Water Ranch, Stauffer, on June 5th, at which meeting, it was decided to postpone this year the Dominion Day Picnic from July 1 to July 3rd, for several reasons.
The picnic will be held at the same place as last year between Com-stocks and Big Butte, which is an ideal spot for an outing. Committees were appointed to look after the mid-day lunch, for which tables will be set. Everybody is welcome to this free mid-day lunch and all the ladies are requested to bring baskets well laden with good things.

The lunch begins at 12.00 a.m.
sharp. The program committee is endeavoring to procure some good speakers and singers to open the day at 10 a.m. sharp. The sports will start at 10 a.m. sharp and the Field Marshall who is a hustler requests all contestants to be in readiness as the events to be run off are lengthy and the time short. A "hot time" is expected in the contests this year as Clear Water carried off nearly all the honors last year and are out to do the same this year. Cash prizes will be given to the winners of the athletic events.

Geo Lervett & Co will run the refreshment stand. A bowery dance will be held on the grounds adjoining the refreshment stand, which is under management of the association, who are endeavoring to secure good music. The proceeds from the dance will go into the treasury for running expenses of the day and for future events.

The next meeting will be held at Mr Sydney Jordan's on June 19 at 8 p.m. sharp at which all the committees will make reports as to their progress in the work assigned to them. At this meeting the matter of forming a Clear Water Association for the purpose of holding future events and for the benefit of the community at large will be discussed. All interested are urgently requested to attend.

The meeting then adjourned after a vote of thanks had been extended to Mr and Mrs Robinson for the use of their home as a meeting place and for the refreshments which were served.

It was dark enough and sheltered enough in that secluded corner of the hall for Verner to draw the girl towards him and kiss her lips passionately. Just for a brief moment Vera lay in her husband's arms; then, with a little sigh, she disengaged herself and disappeared slowly up the stairs.

She had placed Beth in her own room, which they would share together for that night, at any rate. The younger girl was sleeping placidly; there was a smile on her face—her lips were parted like those of one who is entirely happy. She made a fair picture as she lay there with her yellow hair streaming over her shoulders. She murmured in her sleep, as Vera bent over her and brushed her forehead lightly with her lips.

"Oh, I wonder how long this cloud will last!" Vera murmured. "How much longer it shall be till I am free. How terrible it is to have the offer of a good man's love and have to spoil it, or, at least, as I appear to do. And yet, I should be a happy woman if I could only throw off these shackles—"

Vera paused, unable to say more, for something seemed to rise in her throat and choke her. She was utterly tired and worn out, almost too tired to undress and get into bed—and yet once her head was on the pillow she could not sleep; she tossed and turned wearily. All London seemed to be turned into one noisy collection of clocks. The noise and the din seemed to stun Vera and throb through her head like the beating of hammers on her brain. She fell off presently into a troubled sleep, full of dreams. It seemed to her that she was locked in a safe and somebody outside was hammering at the walls to let her free. Then she became conscious that somebody was really knocking at the door. As Vera stumbled out of bed a clock struck three. She flicked up the light and opened the door. A sleepy-looking chambermaid handed her a note, which was marked "Urgent" on the envelope. With a thrill Vera recognized the handwriting of Mark Fenwick. What new disaster was here she wondered.

"Is there anybody waiting for an answer?" she asked tremblingly. "Is the messenger downstairs?" "Yes, miss," the chambermaid replied. "It was brought by a gentleman in a motor. I told him you were in bed and fast asleep, but he said it was of the greatest importance and I was to wake you. Perhaps you had better read it."

With a hand that trembled Vera tore open the envelope. There were only two or three lines in Fenwick's stiff handwriting; they were curt and discourteous and very much to the point. They ran as follows:

"I am writing this from Canterbury, where I have been for the last hour and where I have important business. I have sent one of the cars for you, and you are to come back at once. Whatever happens see that you obey me."

"You will tell the gentleman I will be down in a few moments," Vera said. "I will not detain him any longer than I can help."

"What is to be done?" the girl wondered directly she was alone. She felt that she dared not disobey this command; she would have to go at all costs. She knew by bitter experience that Fenwick was not the man to brook contradiction. Besides, at the present moment it would be a fatal thing to arouse his suspicions, and yet, she felt how impossible it was for her to leave Beth here in the circumstances. Nor could she see her way to call up Verner at this hour and explain what had happened. All she could do was to scribble a short note to him with a view to explaining the outline of the new situation. Ten minutes later she was down stairs in the hall, where she found the man awaiting her. He was clad in furs, his motor cap was pulled over his eyes as if he shrank from observation; but all the same Vera recognized him.

"So it is you, Jones," she said. "Do you know that you have been sent all the way from Canterbury to fetch me at this time in the morning? It is perfectly monstrous that I should be dragged out of bed like this; perfectly disgraceful."

"I don't know anything about that miss," the man said sullenly. "It is the gov'nor's orders, and he gave me pretty plainly to understand that he would want to know the reason why if I came back without you. Don't blame me."

"I'm not blaming you at all," Vera said coldly. "Nor am I going to stand here bandying words with you. I will just go to my room and put on a fur coat—then I shall be ready."

"Very well, miss. That's the way to take it. But where is the other young lady got to?"

Vera's heart fairly stood still for a moment. Fenwick's note had said nothing about her sister, though this man seemed to be aware of the fact that she was here. There was only one thing to do, and that was to lie boldly and without hesitation. She looked the speaker in the face in blank astonishment.

"I fail to understand you," she said. "There is nobody here but me; there could be nobody here but me. And now, I have nothing further to say. One moment and I will be with you."

CHAPTER XVII.

Merton Grange.

Vera came down a few moments later ready for her journey. Now that she had had time to think matters over, she was looking forward with some dread to her forthcoming interview with Mark Fenwick. Surely something out of the common must have taken place, or he would never have sent for her at such an extraordinary time, and Vera had always one thing to contend with; she had not forgotten, in fact she could not forget, that for the last three years she had been engaged in plotting steadily against the man by whose name she was known. Moreover, she was not on the least blind to Fenwick's astuteness, and there was always the unpleasant feeling that he might be playing with her. She had always loathed and detested this man from the bottom of her soul; there were times when she doubted whether or not he was a relation of hers. As far as Vera knew, he was supposed to be her mother's half brother, and so much as this she owed the man—he had come to her at the time when she was nearly destitute, and in no position to turn her back on his advances. That it suited Fenwick to have a well-bred and graceful girl about him, she knew perfectly well. But long before would she have left him, only she was quite certain that Fenwick was at the bottom of the dreadful business which had resulted in Beth's deplorable state of mind.

But as to all this, Vera could say nothing at the moment. All she had to do now was to guard herself against a surprise on the part of Fenwick. She had been startled by the mere suggestion on the part of her companion that she had not been alone at the Grand Empire Hotel. Much as she would have liked illumination on this point, she had the prudence to say nothing. Silently she stepped into the car, a big Mercedes, with great glaring eyes. Silently, too, she was borne along the empty streets. It wanted yet three hours to daylight, and Vera asked how long they would be in reaching their destination. Her companion put on speed once the outskirts of the town were reached. Vera could feel the cold air streaming past her face like a touch of ice.

"Oh, about an hour and a half," the driver said carelessly. "I suppose it is about fifty-five miles. With these big lamps and these clear roads we'll just fly along."

The speaker touched a lever and the car seemed to jump over the smooth roads. The hedges and houses flew by like a stream of water, the whole earth seemed to vibrate to the roar and rattle of the car. It was Vera's first experience of anything like racing, and she held her breath in terror.

"What would happen if a wheel gave way?" she asked. She had muffled her face in her veil, so that she could breathe more freely now. "Surely such a pace as this is dangerous?"

"You have to take risks, miss," the driver said coolly. "We are moving at about five and forty miles an hour now. I'm very sorry if it makes you nervous, but my instructions were to get back as speedily as possible."

"I don't feel exactly nervous," Vera said.

"Oh, no, you are getting over it. Everybody does after the first few moments. When you get used to the motion you will like it. It gives you a feeling like a glass of champagne when you're tired. You'll see for yourself presently."

Surely enough Vera did see for herself presently. As the feeling of timidity and unfamiliarity wore off she began to be conscious of a glow in her blood as if she were breathing some pure mountain air. The breeze fairly sang past her ears, the car ran more smoothly now with nothing to check its movement, and Vera could have sung aloud for the very joy of living. She began to understand the vivid pleasures of motoring; she could even make an excuse for those who travelled the high roads at top speed. Long before she reached her destination she had forgotten everything else beside the pure delight of that trip in the dark.

"Here we are, miss," the driver said at length, as they turned in through a pair of huge iron gates. "It's about a mile up the avenue to the house—you can see the lights in front of you."

"Have we really come all that way in this short time?" Vera asked. "It only seems about ten minutes since we started."

The driver made no reply and Vera had a little time to look curiously about her. So far as she could judge they were in a large park now, filled with magnificent timber. Here and there through the shadowy gloom she seemed to see figures flitting, and these she assumed to be deer. On each side of the avenue rose a noble line of elm trees, beyond which were the gardens, then a series of terraces, culminating in a fine house of the late Tudor period. Beyond question it was a fine old family mansion in which Fenwick had taken up his quarters for the present.

"What do you call the place?" Vera asked.

"This is Merton Grange, miss," the driver explained. "It belongs to Lord Somebody or other, I forget his name. Anyway, he has had to let the house for a time and go abroad. You had better get out here and I'll take the car round to the stables. I wouldn't ring the bell if I were you, miss. I'd just walk straight into the house. You'll find the door open and the gov'nor ready to receive you. He is sure to have heard the car coming up the drive."

Vera descended from the car and walked up the flight of steps which led to a noble portico. Here was a great massive oak door, which looked as if it required the strength of a man to open it but it yielded to Vera's touch, and a moment later she was standing in the great hall.

Tired as she was and frightened as she was feeling now, Vera could not but admire the beauty and symmetry of the place. Like most historic mansions of today the place had been fitted with electric light, and a soft illuminating flood of it filled the hall. It was a magnificent oak-panelled apartment filled with old armor and trophies, and lined with portraits of the owner's ancestors. It seemed to Vera that anybody might be happy here. It also seemed strange that a man of Fenwick's type should choose a place like this for his habitation. She was destined to know later on what Fenwick had in his mind when he came here.

To Withstand Earthquakes.

A new method of constructing the foundations of buildings in order to prevent as much as possible earthquake shocks from being communicated to the buildings has been devised and patented by Dr. J. A. Calantariants of Scarborough. In this system the foundation, which is built in the usual manner, is faced with hard material, such as granite or iron, and upon this facing layers of talc, mica or other smooth substances are deposited; each layer being dusted with powdered talc, mica, asbestos, soapstone or sand, or mats of asbestos, etc., may be used without the plates of talc. Slabs of granite or iron placed on this prepared zone form the base of the superstructure. The object of the arrangement is in the case of an earthquake to allow the building to slide laterally. The service pipes are flexible at the point where they issue from the ground.—London Mail.

Pierpont Morgan Braves Superstition.

No. 13 has been avoided in a large proportion of the London streets, and in this particular city men appear to be quite as superstitious as other folk. There is no No. 13 in Holborn, Threadneedle street, London street or Tokenhouse yard. Other leading thoroughfares from which this number is lacking include the Strand, the Haymarket, St. James' street, Park lane and Westbourne grove. On the other hand, we find Mr. Pierpont Morgan braving the superstition by housing his priceless art treasures at 13 Prince's gate. And an intrepid manufacturer has for years carried on a prosperous business at 13 Friday street. It would be hard to devise a more bloodcurdling address than this.—London Chronicle.

An Advertising Show.

An "advertising pantomime" is in course of preparation in Berlin. This novel form of publicity is being adopted by one of the large retail establishments of the capital, which has commissioned a distinguished composer to write the music of the production. The plot deals with two poor children found starving by a fairy on Christmas eve. She proceeds to take them, in a series of scenes, through the various departments of the great shop, giving them presents. Comic characters, clowns and a ballet lend humorous relief. The pantomime will probably be produced at one of the Berlin theaters, customers at the shop receiving free tickets.

Hale at 102.

Able to shake off a severe cold that settled on her, and threatened pneumonia, is the somewhat remarkable record of Mrs. Ruth Brislin, still active and optimistic at the unusual age of 102 years. This venerable woman lives near the village of Chantry, in Leeds County, with her youngest daughter, Mrs. D. Wood, wife of a well-known farmer.

Like many another old woman of the early days, Mrs. Brislin had a queer fondness for smoke, and handles her pipe like a veteran of the wars.

A Courtier's Retort.

Queen Beas had a pretty wit, they say, which she was by no means loath to exercise upon her subjects. She got the worst of it in one verbal duel at least. Observing in the garden a courtier to whom she had promised promotion that had not yet been realized, Her Majesty thrust her head out of the window and called to him: "What does a man think of, Sir Edward, when he thinks of nothing?" "Of a woman's promise, your majesty," was Sir Edward's response.

Terrible Eczema for 25 Years Cured by Cuticura Remedies

"I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best, but failed to cure it. My own doctor had advised me to have my leg cut off, but I said I would try the Cuticura Remedies first. He said, 'try them if you like but I do not think they will do any good.' At this time my leg was peeled from the knee down, my foot was like a piece of raw flesh and I had to walk on crutches. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. After the first two treatments the swelling went down and in two months' use of the Cuticura Remedies my leg was cured and the new skin grown on. The doctor could not believe his own eyes when he saw that Cuticura had cured me and said that he would use Cuticura for his own patients. But for the Cuticura Remedies I might have lost my life. I am truly grateful for the wonderful cure that Cuticura wrought. I have many grandchildren and they are frequent users of Cuticura and I always recommend it most highly as a sure and economical cure for skin troubles." (Signed) MME. J. B. RENAUD, 277, Mettana St., Montreal.

You Can Try Cuticura Soap and Ointment Free

For more than a generation Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have afforded the speediest, surest and most economical treatment for torturing, disfiguring skin and scalp eruptions, from infancy to age. INCREASE IN POPULATION

POPULATION WILL BE MUCH GREATER THAN ANTICIPATED

Reports from Census Bureau Officials Indicate that the Population in Many Districts is Considerably Larger Than Was Expected—Great Increases in Population West of The Great Lakes.

Ottawa.—Canada's initial census taking, which began June 1, will take three years to complete. The tabulating and analysis of the population figures of the extensive information asked for in regard to trade, industry, etc., will keep the census bureau busy for that length of time. The total population will not be definitely known until October, though an approximate figure may be given a month or so earlier.

The returns will begin to come in from the cities in about a fortnight's time, but the enumerators have three weeks' time allowed to collect their work and the commissioners are allowed another month in which to forward return to Ottawa. The work of tabulation and compilation will be done at the census bureau here, by specially divided tabulating and compiling machines, similar to those used in Washington for the census of last year.

Charles W. Spicer, an official of the American census bureau who has been temporarily borrowed by the Canadian bureau, is now in Toronto superintending the manufacture of a number of machines to be used in tabulating the schedules turned in by the enumerators. Reports from census bureau officials who have been reviewing reports as to the prospective work required for the commissioners in the various parts of the Dominion, indicated that the population in many districts is considerably larger than was estimated. The final figures will probably show a population increase of about 50 per cent. during the decade. West of the Great Lakes it is estimated there are now about a million and a half more people than there were in 1901. Eastern Canada should show an increase of a little over a million and a quarter.

POTATO GROWING COMPETITION

Competition Open to Potato Growers of the Whole North American Continent

Calgary.—Among the premiums offered at the New York land and irrigation exposition in Madison Square Gardens, next November, is a $1,000 silver trophy cup, presented by Mr. Stillwell, which is open to competition of potato growers of the whole North American continent.

Circular letters are being sent out by the Canadian Pacific Irrigation Colonization Co., to the department of agriculture of each of the four Western provinces, and to the secretaries of agricultural societies in each province, outlining the possibilities.

The exhibit need not be from one grower only but from any society, province or district, which may collect the best samples grown and enter them as one exhibit. In the awarding of the prize the following qualities will be considered: Smoothness, marketable quality, flush eyes, uniformity of size, and yield of each variety per acre, officially surveyed as sworn by the grower.

Since the competition is open to America, the value in advertising is very great.

ONE VICTORY FOR ROYAL BANK

In No Hurry About Hurrying the Alberta and Great Waterway Case Along

Edmonton.—Mr. Justice Beck, sitting in chambers, recently refused the application made on behalf of the province by Deputy Attorney General Clarry to have the Royal Bank case set down for hearing at the June sessions of the supreme court in Edmonton. Application was opposed by Frank Ford, K.C., representing the Alberta and Great Waterways railway and the Canada West Construction company on the ground that sufficient reason was given in the defence to the action filed by those defendants why the case should not be heard in June.

Justice Beck decided that such was the case so hearing of the action will stand over till sitting of the supreme court in September, unless the appeal is taken from the decision of Mr. Justice Beck at the June sittings of the court en banc in Calgary.

Big Procession, Over Mile Long.

London.—The details of the coronation procession are now sufficiently completed to show that it will be a splendid cavalcade, over a mile long. The representatives of the foreign countries will not ride in the procession, but will be accommodated with seats on the stands alongside the route. Crown Prince Gustave Adolph of Sweden, and the crown princess, have arrived in London for the coronation.

Britain Still Mistress of the Seas

London.—More than 170 British warships, from Dreadnoughts to submarines, eighteen foreign warships and sixty ocean liners and private yachts, will cover an area of about six square miles, according to an official chart issued by the admiralty recently, for the Coronation review of the fleet off Spithead, June 24.

WILL GO AHEAD WITH WORK

Surveys for the Location Will Start from Calgary Within Six Weeks

Calgary.—Within six weeks a general survey for the location of the Alberta Electric Railroad from Calgary to Banff, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge and Macleod, will be commenced according to the local manager George E. Wood, who emphatically denied the current rumor that the C.P.R. had made overtures with a view to gaining possession of the road. The report was that the C.P.R. had got control of the charter, recently granted by the government, fearing serious opposition in transportation in the southern country, which the electric road covers thoroughly.

"We intend going straight ahead with the survey and construction of our lines as soon as we can," said Mr. Wood, who also made known that instead of employing power generated by water or gas, the road would be up-to-date in that it will be furnished with gasoline engines.

There are only four roads on the American continent operated by this means, and Mr. Wood says that a careful investigation has led the directors of the Alberta Electric to believe that this means of locomotion is far ahead of steam.

"The gasoline trains are made just like the ordinary trains with sleeping cars and dining cars," said Mr. Wood, "when they are in operation we shall have one of the most modern systems on the continent."

Should Dominions Be Consulted

London.—At the Imperial conference recently, Premier Fisher, of Australia, said that the time had arrived when each state should be informed and if need be consulted before Britain entered into any arrangements with other countries by which the interests of all were affected.

Sir Edward Grey said that consultation had been given the right to make her own treaties. It might embarrass the home government if it had to consult the dominions and if the dominions insisted it would imply that they should take part in that war. On the whole the matter had better be left entirely to the home government.

The declaration of London, which led to the discussion, was an immense step in advance of the first step towards arbitration between nations. Sir Joseph Ward and Dr. Findlay spoke in the same strain.

WILL NOW BE CONSULTED

DOMINIONS TO HAVE VOICE IN IMPORTANT MATTERS

Opinion Endorsed that the Dominions Should be Consulted Upon All Questions Wherein They Were Effected—Conference Approved the Declaration of London, and Passed a Resolution Favoring It.

London.—The Imperial conference discussed the Declaration of London when Premier Botha favored the ratification as did Premier Morris of Newfoundland.

Sir Edward Grey said that generally the Dominions should be consulted. The determination that this would be done would be one of the most important results of the conference.

Premier Fisher withheld his resolution substituting another that the Dominions should be consulted when the government framed up instructions to British negotiators at The Hague conference upon questions affecting the Dominions. Similar procedure would be taken in other international agreements where possible.

The conference approved of the declaration of London and passed a resolution favoring its ratification. The declaration of London was adopted at the conference of the chief navy powers held in London from December, 1908, until February, 1909, on the rules of prize in naval warfare. The object was to draw up a definite code, following the precedent of the Declaration of Paris, 1856, for the purpose of an international prize court to be established in accordance with one of the conventions of the second Hague conference in 1907.

Washington.—"Less sensational, but more valuable practically than a ratification of the general arbitration treaty," was the comment of leading publishers here, on the action of the Imperial conference at London, favoring the ratification of the Declaration of London.

The resolution adopted by the conference is expected to vitalize the declaration, and place the British foreign office in a position to overcome the opposition, which has threatened the total failure of the effort to obtain an international agreement upon the rules of prize, at sea.

J. J. HILL WILL QUIT SOON

The Veteran Railway Man Wants to Die With His Boots Off—Will Drop All His Interests

Minneapolis.—James J. Hill, for half a century identified with the development of the north west as no other man has been, is preparing the way for retirement from active business life and the filing recently of the $60,000,000 mortgage on the Great Northern, is the first step, according to Mr. Hill's own statement.

He characterized recently as "rubbish" the stories of the Great Northern and Burlington consolidation and of the combining of the Northern Pacific and the Chicago and North-western for Chicago Great Western. "I am 73 years old and do not want to die with my boots on," Mr. Hill said. "My interests are large and cannot be dropped in a moment. If I am going to have any leisure in my life it is about time I had it and I have taken the first step towards securing it."

"Preparations for fifty years to come for the retirement of bonds now outstanding as they fall due and for other issues to provide money to keep up the road and build extensions and make improvements that we expect will have to be made, is the true reason for the mortgage."

ANOTHER WOMAN FARMER

Miss Helena Hill, of Seattle, Buys Section of Land Near Sedgewick

Calgary.—Miss Jack May, the young English woman farmer, who recently settled near Sedgewick, is to have a rival in her fascinating occupation in Alberta. Miss Helena Hill, a young girl from Seattle, has purchased a section of land from the C. P. R. near Sedgewick and is at present supervising the breaking and sowing of 100 acres to flax.

Miss Hill intends to go into farming on a large scale. Next year she will build a house and buy stock and implements and will bring the remainder of the 640 acres under cultivation. Her friend, Mrs. Hilliard, also of Seattle, will supervise her house and Miss Hill the "farm."

Vancouver Employers Satisfied.

Vancouver.—The Vancouver employers have formally replied to the Minister of Labor declining his offer to intervene in the threatened labor trouble.

"THE SELKIRK," THE NEW PALATIAL HOTEL OF THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC IN WINNIPEG.

The above is the plan which has been approved by the Grand Trunk Pacific management for the new hotel, which the company intends to erect in Manitoba. This hotel, which in appearance and luxuriousness of appointments is to be the equal of the Chateau Laurier at Ottawa, will cost in round figures one million dollars. It will be situated on Broadway, near the Manitoba Club, and close to the new Union Station. It has been definitely decided to call the hotel "The Selkirk," which not only has the merit of being a highly distinctive and appropriate name, but also one which is historically associated with Winnipeg, and with the development of the West generally.

Messrs. Ross & MacFarlane, of Montreal, are the architects for the hotel. They are now working on the detailed plans, and construction is to commence forthwith. This hotel will be the first of a chain of similar hotels to be erected throughout the West by the company. The management has announced the purchase of a centrally situated site opposite the Edmonton Club on McDougall Avenue, Edmonton, for the erection in the near future of another large hotel. The company also just closed a deal by which it secures a very advantageous site for a new station to be erected in the City of Calgary.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON XI.—SECOND QUARTER, JUNE 11, 1911.

Text of the Lesson, 11 Chron. xxx, 13-27—Memory Verses, 18-20—Golden Text, 1 Sam. xvi, 7—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This Hezekiah, whose name signifies "the strength of Jehovah," was one of the best kings that reigned over the kingdom of Judah. In the sixth year of his reign the king of Assyria carried the ten tribes into captivity, as we shall learn more fully in next week's lesson (11 Kings xix, 10-12). The king of Assyria threatened to do to Judah as he had done to Israel and wrote a blasphemous letter which Hezekiah spread before the Lord, and he and the prophet Isaiah prayed and cried to heaven, and the Lord sent an angel who smote in one night 185,000 of the Assyrian army (11 Kings xix, 35; 11 Chron. xxxii 19-21).

Ahaz, the father of Hezekiah, had done very wickedly. He worshipped other gods, cut in pieces the vessels of the house of God, shut up the doors of the house of the Lord and made him altars in every corner of Jerusalem and in the cities of Judah. Therefore the Lord did bring Judah low because of him (11 Chron. xxviii, 19-25).

Hezekiah in the first month of the first year of his reign opened the doors of the house of the Lord and repaired them and set the priests and Levites at work to cleanse the temple, which they did in sixteen days. Then they offered sin offerings unto the Lord for all Israel, and burnt offerings, and thank offerings, and worshipped the Lord with gladness. "So the service of the house of the Lord was set in order, and Hezekiah rejoiced, and all the people, that God had prepared the people, for the thing was done suddenly" (chapter xxix, 3, 17, 24, 27, 31, 36).

The regular time to keep the Passover in the first month being past because of the time it took to cleanse the temple, it was determined to keep it in the second month, as was permitted in the law (Num. ix, 9-11). Proclamation was therefore made throughout all Israel from Dan to Beersheba that they should come to keep the Passover unto the Lord God of Israel at Jerusalem, for it was a long time since the feast had been kept (verses 1-5). The last of which we have a record was in the days of Joshua, when at Gilgal they kept it upon entering the land (Josh. v, 10). Before that there is a record of only two Passovers, one in Egypt and one a year later at Sinai.

After the time of our lesson we have only a record of two more in the Old Testament, the great one of Josiah and the one in the days of Ezra at the dedication of the temple after the return from Babylon (11 Chron. xxxv, 18; Ez. vi, 19-22). We can scarcely think that these were the only Passovers kept, but these six are the only ones recorded. If we include the one that the Lord Jesus so greatly desired to keep with his disciples (Luke xxii), then we have a record of just seven great Passovers. Of the lessons for our own souls let us never forget the words, "When I see the blood I will pass over you." It was not the blood and something else, but simply and only the applied blood of the slain lamb that gave safety. See Lev. xvii, 11; Heb. ix, 22; Rev. i, 5, 6; v, 9, 10; vii, 14; Eph. i, 7.

Nothing can by any means add to the safety which is ours in Christ Jesus, but because of it may the Lord grant us a great appetite for the Lamb, and as He lived by the Father may we, eating Him, live by Him (John vi, 57). This call to all Israel to turn to the Lord might truly be spoken of as a last call to the ten tribes, for six years later they were carried captive by the king of Assyria. As the posts passed from city to city through Ephraim and Manasseh, even unto Zebulun, some laughed them to scorn and mocked them, but some humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem (verses 10, 11). Verse 12 seems to teach that God can bless only those who are willing that He should lay His hand upon them for good.

Until He shall come again in power and glory we cannot expect anything different from Acts xxviii, 24. "Some believed, and some believed not." Wheat and tares will grow together until the end of the age. Notwithstanding the rebellious ones a very great congregation assembled at Jerusalem to keep the Passover (verse 13). They cleansed the city of idolators and killed the Passover and kept the feast not only for seven days, but so great was their joy because they had truly turned to the Lord and He had so blessed them that they kept the feast for another seven days. There was greater joy in Jerusalem than had been since the days of Solomon.

Hezekiah spake comfortably or to the heart of all the Levites that taught the good knowledge of the Lord (verse 22, margin), and so he was greatly used of God in this revival. The Bible is a heart book, from the heart of God to the hearts of His people (Isa. xl, 1, 2, margin), and if His word does not reach our hearts with comfort and strength we should pray, "Give Thy servant a hearing heart" (1 Kings iii, 9, margin). What a splendid record of this king is found in chapter xxxi, 20, 21. "He wrought that which was good and right and truth before the Lord his God. . . . He did it with all his heart and prospered."

CHAPTER IV.

The 25th of July was considered a very important date, more so then, than now. On that date there could be no fault found with you if you got into a hay sleugh and started cutting it, even if your neighbor was looking forward to that sleugh as his. The country was one great hayfield. Upland hay waved with the wind, on the prairies, like grain fields in August. Scores of sleughs had hay half the height of a man, in abundance. Still the fever of getting into these best hay grounds ran very high and kept most awake, thinking the other fellow might get ahead of them.

There was a nice sleugh of hay on section 24 in township 34, it was nearer to Mr W— than it was to Mr H—, they each determined to have it, and it was a case who gets in first. W— was all ready night before but H was ready also and instead of going to bed he started out for the coveted spot, camped there, and by the grey dawn of morning the horses and mower were sailing around the sleugh, when Mr W came on the scene with his outfit, too late, and very much out of temper. There were scores of other places around just as good, but contention was sweet, and in order.

I hadn't as yet had any experience in hay making, however hay had to be provided for the horses and cattle, against the winter, so, the fever out of necessity caught on.

The 25th of July arrived, all anxiety to get started, and to secure the best surrounding hay sleughs, afraid some other person might turn up and rob me of my birthright, I drove on my mower into a haysleugh, about 3 minutes walk from my house and started cutting, but in a few minutes, unfortunately, the "gagchain" broke and a trip to Olds had to be made to get it fixed, however I got started again and got along with few mishaps to the machine. I did all my haying within one mile of my home. The idea of going two miles away for hay was to me a most unwise thing to do. Neither of us knew very well how to stack hay, however hay had to be brought home, to save labor of fencing where it was cut and the home stack had to be planned in order to save home fencing as much as possible, so it was decided to make the stack 12 feet wide by 25 feet long with only about 25 loads of hay to finish it with. But it was started and the more we seemed to put in it the harder it seemed to finish it, and make it the authorized shape. The last load was put on top, yet one could not see much to resemble a top, it was nearly flat. It stood for some time when it began to smoke and smell bad, something must be done. It seemed as hard work getting a passage way cut through the centre of that stack, as the building of a new one had been, however to save the hay it had to be done and the lesson learned not to build haystacks on this plan again.

OPERATIONS AVOIDED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Belleriver, Que.—"Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive. For five months I had painful and irregular periods and inflammation of the uterus. I suffered like a martyr and thought often of death. I consulted two doctors who could do nothing for me. I went to a hospital, and the best doctors said I must submit to an operation, because I had a tumor. I went back home much discouraged. One of my cousins advised me to take your Compound, as it had cured her. I did so and soon commenced to feel better, and my appetite came back with the first bottle. Now I feel no pain and am cured. Your remedy is deserving of praise."—Mrs. EMMA CHATEL, Valleyfield, Belleriver, Quebec.

Another Operation Avoided.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y.—I run a sewing machine in a large factory and got all run down. I had to give up work for I could not stand the pains in my back. The doctor said I needed an operation for womb trouble but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did more for me than the doctors did. I have gained five pounds. I hope that everyone who is suffering from female trouble, nervousness and backache will take the Compound. I owe my thanks to Mrs. Pinkham. She is the working girl's friend for health, and all women who suffer should write to her and take her advice.—MISS TILLIE PLENZIG, 3 Jay St., Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases.

Books.

No weighty moral tomes for him—That is to say, no preachments; He finds his books in women's looks—That is to say, in peachments.

A Corrector of Pulmonary Troubles.—Many testimonials could be presented showing the great efficacy of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in curing disorders of the respiratory processes, but the best testimonial is experience and the Oil is recommended to all who suffer from these disorders with the certainty that they will find relief. It will allay inflammation in the bronchial tubes as no other preparation can.

The various German states maintain seventy schools in horsemanship, with courses of from one to six months.

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

Our idea of somebody who gets little out of life is the man who brags that he never gives in!

Deafness Cannot Be Cured? By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it is entirely closed, and hearing will be destroyed forever; none came out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Reason

Nan—"Anyway, I don't like his looks."

Unwelcome Advice.

"Kind friend," whined a beggar, "I'm trying to get to Glasgow, and I've got the price of a ticket all but sixpence. Will you help me out?" "No; but I can give you some excellent advice," replied the gentleman he addressed. "Take the train to within a sixpenny fare of Glasgow, and then walk."—Tit-Bits.

Safe.

Golfer (after several unsuccessful attempts to hit the ball)—If you laugh at me again I'll knock your head off!

Caddy—you wouldn't know which club to use.

At the Yarmouth Y.M.C.A. Boys' Camp held at Tusket Falls in August, I found MINARD'S LINIMENT most beneficial for sunburn, an immediate relief for colic and toothache.

ALFRED STOKES,
General Secretary.

Trouble.

"I don't believe my wife will be quite satisfied, even when she gets the vote."

"Why not?" "We'll have to reorganize the ballot so that when there's an election she can stay home and let me attend to that along with the rest of her errands."

BABY'S TEARS TURNED TO SMILES

The well baby is a happy baby—always cooing, gurgling and smiling. It is only the sickly baby who is cross, fretful and cries. The smile or the tears indicate baby's state of health. Mothers, if you want your baby to smile—the smile of good health and freedom from pain—give him Baby's Own Tablets. They never fail to turn the tear into a smile. Concerning them Mrs. James Hutchison, Marysville, B. C., writes:—"Your Baby's Own Tablets have been a great comfort to me while baby was teething. He was cross and fretful but as soon as I began giving him the Tablets the effect was wonderful. He became a good natured baby right away and is now big, fat and healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

Mother—"Gertie, I wish you would stop lacing. Young girls have no idea what folly it is."

Gertie—"Yes; but remember, mother, a lot of older women are taken in by it."

When going away from home, or at any change of habitat, he is a wise man who numbers among his belongings a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. Change of food and water in some strange place where there are no doctors may bring on an attack of dysentery. He then has a standard remedy at hand with which to cope with the disorder, and forearmed he can successfully fight the ailment and subdue it.

The reformer who devotes his attention to himself will come nearer redeeming the world, than the one who feels responsible for all his neighbors.

FISHERMAN TELLS INTERESTING STORY

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED HIS RHEUMATISM AND LUMBAGO

Strain and Exposure Brought on Troubles That Caused Five Years Suffering, but Dodd's Kidney Pills Fixed Him Up.

Clam Bank Cove, Bay St. George, Nfld. (Special).—Among the fishermen here Dodd's Kidney Pills are making a name for themselves as a remedy for those ills that the cold and exposure bring to these hardy people. The kidneys are always first to feel the effects of continued strain on the body, and as Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure the kidneys they are gaining a wonderful popularity. An example is the case of Mr. J. C. Green.

"My trouble," Mr. Green states, "was caused by strain and cold. For five years I suffered from Rheumatism and Lumbago. I was always tired and nervous. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing and the pains of neuralgia added to my distress."

"I was in very bad shape indeed when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, but I am thankful to say that they gave me relief. It is because I found in them a cure that I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to my friends."

Others here give the same experience. They were racked with pain and feeling that life generally was a burden. Dodd's Kidney Pills made new men and women of them.

Frankly Stated.

(Washington Star.)

"I suppose you are going to make some addresses this summer."

"Yes," replied the statesman. "I'm going to tell my constituents exactly what they need."

"And what do they need?"

"Me."

Saved the Day.

"I was on a yacht that sprung a leak and my presence of mind was all that saved us."

"What was your presence of mind?"

"As the awful water poured into the hold I suddenly remembered I was wearing a pair of pumps."

A Cure for Fever and Ague.—Disturbance of the stomach and liver always precede attacks of fever and ague, showing derangement of the digestive organs and deterioration in the quality of the blood. In these ailments Parmedee's Vegetable Pills have been found most effective, abating the fever and subduing the ague in a few days. There are many who are subject to these distressing disturbances and to these there is no better preparation procurable as a means of relief.

A Gross Insult.

(Detroit Free Press.)

"Pa, what does it mean when you say a man was grossly insulted?"

"Well," replied the father, "a man is grossly insulted when the opposing pitcher passes two men in order to get a chance at him."

A man regards himself as a patriot for abusing other nations he doesn't know anything about.

DRAGONS IN AFRICA.

Possibility That Fabled Monsters Yet Live In Dark Continent.

Once again the report comes from Africa that terrible monsters hitherto unknown to naturalists inhabit the hot swamps and jungles of the unexplored interior.

This time it is in the form of a letter from Charles Brooks, explorer, scientist and hunter, of Johannesburg, to Capt. John Cutting, of the New York Maritime Exchange. Mr. Brooks writes that natives of the swamps of northern Rhodesia along the southern borders of the Sahara Desert have told him of creatures so big that beside them "elephants look like small cats."

It is less than a year since Carl Hagenbeck, the famous animal trainer and merchant, astonished the scientific world by asserting in his book, Beasts and Men, that the natives had described to him a "huge monster, half beast, half dragon," which inhabited these very swamps.

Would it not seem strange if some such brute should be discovered alive to-day and thus lend corroboration to the mediaeval stories of dragons? For centuries the world has believed that those tales of monsters were fables and that dragons existed only in the imagination of poets. Yet there is no doubt that the people of the Middle Ages really believed in dragons. And the belief was not confined to any one land. From time immemorial the dragon has been the heraldic symbol of China. The ancient Greek heroes slew dragons—did not Perseus rescue Andromeda from the jaws of a dragon by holding up the head of Medusa the Gorgon before it and turning it into stone? The hoary saga of the Norsemen tell of dragons—did not Siegfried challenge Fafner to mortal combat and slay him? The legends of the Christian saints are full of stories of dragons; that of St. George has been painted by many an artist and is perpetuated to this very day on the gold coinage of Great Britain.

There was a day when the earth was populated with dragons. Their bones have been dug up all over the world and may be seen by anyone in any museum. But geologists say that the last of them perished at least 4,000,000 years ago. In their day the earth was hot and moist; the land was covered with a vast tropical jungle and, so far as science has been able to discover, man had not yet made his appearance.

And yet—the Chinese, the Greeks, the Jews, the Norsemen, the Gauls and Britons and Romans and Persians of the dark ages knew nothing of the bones of extinct monsters lying buried under the earth. Whence then their conceptions of dragons? May it not be that these beasts and reptiles of millions of years gone by survived to a later day than the geologists are willing to confess and that men actually fought and slew them? If such be the case the memory or the tradition of such fearsome combats would linger in the mouths of men and be transmitted from father to son in story and song, generation after generation. How else account for the almost universal belief in dragons that prevailed down to comparatively modern days?

And would it be so very strange if in the hot swamps of Central Africa some descendants of these primeval monsters had survived throughout the ages? For these are regions which still resemble the world-wide forests of millions of years ago. They are almost impenetrable, even to the natives, by reason of the heat, the moisture and the mephitic vapors that rise from those immemorial marshes. White men have never yet ventured to explore them. They are too remote and the dangers are too great. These dangers are from reptiles, insects and disease. Surely such regions might very well serve to harbor alive through the ages the dragons that roamed the world millions of years ago.

He Knew His Business.

A good story of the "borrowing habit" comes from abroad. A lady who had gone to live in Shanghai was compelled soon after her arrival to entertain some important business friends of her husband. Her finest china, glass and so forth had not yet arrived from England. Nevertheless she determined to give a dinner, and called in her "No. 1 boy." "Now, boy," she said impressively, "I entertain three gentlemen. You make it all best possible. Must be nice everything. Bowing and scraping, he went off to inform the other seven servants. The next evening as she ushered her guests into the dining room she gasped in amazement. Before her was a table spread with the most exquisite linen, cut glass, silver and delicate china. Over it all hung a gorgeous cut-glass chandelier. Course after course was served as if by magic. The instant she could leave her guests she sought her "No. 1 boy." "Boy, boy!" she exclaimed, "where you get such beautiful things?" The boy beamed with satisfaction. "Everything very nice, best possible! Me very good friend Russian ambassador's 'No. 1 boy'; Russian ambassador go out to dinner. Me borrow. Very nice, very nice!"

Didn't Like Canadian Wine.

"I have never met a kindlier old gentleman, or one I like more, than that Notaire," writes a representative of London Bystander of his trip through Canada, "though he did give me Canadian wine to drink. It was a sort of port or sherry, or both mixed, and it had the genuine oily taste. But it also seemed to have some vinegar in it, and some fruit salts. I like trying things, however."

CURED OF CONSTIPATION

Mr. Andrews praises Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Mr. George Andrews of Halifax, N.S., writes:

"For many years I have been troubled with chronic Constipation. This ailment never comes single-handed, and I have been a victim to the many illnesses that constipation brings in its train. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but one and all left me in the same hopeless condition. It seemed that nothing would expel from me the one ailment that caused so much trouble, yet at last I read about these Indian Root Pills.

That was indeed a lucky day for me, for I was so impressed with the statements made that I determined to give them a fair trial.

They have regulated my stomach and bowels. I am cured of constipation, and I claim they have no equal as a medicine."

For over half a century Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been curing constipation and clogged, inactive kidneys, with all the ailments which result from them. They cleanse the whole system and purify the blood. Sold everywhere at 25c. a box.

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights of the Dominion in Manitoba and Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and British Columbia may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2500 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made to the Agent or sub-agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated. In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections and in unsurveyed territory the track applied for shall be staked out. Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton. The person operating the mines shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns, monthly, accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre. The Minister may reserve for an applicant the coal mining rights under 2,500 acres of contiguous lands for two years. Application for such right must be made to the Agent. Fee $100.00. An expenditure at the rate of $1 an acre per annum, in prospecting by recognized methods, must be incurred. For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands. W. W. CORY Deputy Minister of the Interior

BOWDEN PUBLIC SCHOOL

Before the proceedings of the Debating Society began on Friday June 9th, a little concert was given. The programme was as follows: Recitation, Jack Shenfield; duet, Mr Armitstead and C Powell; recitation, Harvey Walton; song, Enid Christie; recitation, Pearl Bryenton; song, Mr Armitstead; recitation, Majorie Shenfield; recitation, Tom Lewis.

The minutes were read by the secretary, Lois Rutledge, and signed by the chairman, Horace Rolans. The subject for debate was City Life vs Country Life. Doreen McDermott and Charles Roulston spoke for city life and Mary Stitson and Harvey Walton for country life.

The debate was contested in a bright, spirited way. The speakers had evidently spent a deal of time in preparing their speeches which were listened to with great interest. At the close of the debate the judges decided that the speakers for city life had won the debate by the smallest of margins.

The Principal, Mr H Armitstead B Sc, criticised the speeches and commended the debaters on their able and lively arguments. The meeting was brought to a close by singing God Save The King.
